Dear Parent/Guardian:

The No Child Left Behind Act was designed to make changes in teaching and learning that will help increase academic achievement in our schools. The law requires that all school's receiving Title I funds must inform parents of their right to ask schools about the qualifications of their child's teachers. Our elementary school receives Title I funding and we are happy to share this information with you at your request.

We believe that nothing is more important to your child's education at school than having a well prepared and highly qualified teacher. At Cambridge Central School we are proud of the quality of the teaching staff. All of our regular teachers have college degrees and many have advanced degrees. The state of New York has always required a teaching certificate/license for all teachers. In addition, every teacher continues learning through professional development activities to make sure that their teaching skills remain at the highest possible level.

I encourage you to support your child's education and communicate with your child's teacher on a regular basis. For more information on NCLB, and the role of parents, please visit the United States Department of Education w (USDE) website at www.ed.gov/nclb. Additional information regarding parent resources in NY schools can be found in the Parents section on our website at www.cambridgeschools.org. Should you have any other questions regarding this correspondence, please don't hesitate to call (518) 677-2653, extension 1010.

Sincerely,

Vincent A. Canini
